

How To Write Rap - A Step By Step Guide

Contributed by MarkWalters
Thursday, 25 February 2010

If you want to learn to write rap songs, then read this now. Below you will find tips on how to write rap lyrics.
by MarkWalters

If you're looking to learn to write rap songs, then continue reading. Below are some great tips on how to write rap lyrics.

Tip #1: Write Every Day

If you want to learn to write rap songs, then practice makes perfect. Writing lyrics on a regular basis is the only way to improve. What you write doesn't have to be perfect. All that matters is that you get your creative juices flowing and have some solid output and not just ideas in your head

Studies have shown that after doing something for 21 days consecutively it becomes a natural habit. That means after writing rap songs for 21 days in a row, it will be more natural for you to write than for you to not write.

Tip #2 Analyze Other Rapper's Lyrics

If you want to know how to write rap lyrics, then you have to study other peoples lyrics once in awhile. So, pick your favorite hip hop artists and actually take some time to study their song lyrics. This will help you understand the patterns and formulas that raps songs are based on.

Tip #3 Have A 4 Step Structure To Your Songs

In every rap song, there is generally a 4 step structure. That structure being an intro, verse, hook, and outro. That is the basic outline of writing a hip hop song. You should also use it if you want your songs to be structured and sound 'right'.

Tip #4 Add Your Own Personality To Your Song

As well as having structure to your songs, you want to add your own spice and personality so that they stand out. To do this you should write about your own personal life experiences.

Don't be shy about writing about your own life. The more honest and open that you are, the more people will connect with you and end up loving your songs.

About the Author:

If you want to learn how to write rap songs, then sign up for my free newsletter at <http://www.LyricsMethod.com>.